

The Bank Overview

Overview:

The data compiled from our program will help determine factors that affect graduation rates. It can be useful to the students' parents and to the teachers to help them better understand the best way to educate the students. More specifically, it will help make connections between graduation rates and obstacles faced by the students such as disabilities. Also, the program will examine how different parts of the state have different numbers of fully accredited schools and what this means for accredited schools' graduation rates. We are going for an informative approach with this application because we feel parents and teachers need this data in easily accessible ways.
